Applying to the Student Budget Advisory Committee

Are you interested in being a member of the Provost's Student Budget Advisory Committee (SBAC)?

In selecting student membership of the SBAC, the Office of the Provost seeks students who want to better understand the University's budget process and who are willing to share their perspectives as members of the University community. Members of the committee are not required to have a background in budgeting or finance. All enrolled students are eligible, whether undergraduate, graduate, or professional.

Members of the committee are appointed in the fall prior to the first SBAC meeting in November. The nomination process opens up in mid-September and submissions are due in early October. The Office of the Provost solicits nominations from Central Student Government, Student governance groups within schools and colleges, Deans, and other advisory councils. Students can self-nominate as well.

More information about the committee, including background information and a tentative meeting schedule, and an application form, can be found online:

http://provost.umich.edu/nav/sbac/

Questions should be directed to Pat Kneeland at <kneeland@umich.edu> or 734.764.6708.